

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

PROCLAMATION IN RECOGNITION OF DELAWARE SCHOOL CHOICE WEEK

Whereas, all children in Delaware should have access to effective, high-quality education options that best meet their learning needs, interests, and aspirations; and

Whereas, Delaware is home to a variety of education settings, including traditional public schools, public charter schools, magnet schools, private and independent schools, online learning programs, and homeschooling, each of which plays an important role in serving students and families; and

Whereas, supporting a broad awareness of these education options empowers parents and guardians to make informed decisions about the learning environments that best support their children's success; and

Whereas, Delaware School Choice Week helps to raise awareness of the education options available to families across the First State and to encourage continued collaboration among educators, parents, and community leaders in support of student success.

Now, Therefore, I, Matthew Meyer, Governor, do hereby recognize January 25 to 31, 2026, as DELAWARE SCHOOL CHOICE WEEK

in the State of Delaware, and encourage Delawareans to understand their school choice options to make informed decisions about their children's education.

Matthew Meyer
